

Bird

Jailbird

“This idea probably derives from having people living in cages.”

Bird

Bird brain

“Considering the amazing feats of navigation accomplished by bird brains, the idiom seems a bit arrogant.”

Bird

Bird's eye view

“Having an overview of something, being able to see things from above. Or, in the case of flightless birds like the penguin, a view from the ground.”

The early bird catches the worm

“If worms were that great in the morning, wouldn't there be more competition? Aren't donuts better?”

Bird

Flip the bird

“This is merely a rude gesture. It is in no way related to cow tipping.”

Bird

Free as a bird

“When our pet parakeet escaped he was 'free as a bird.' But sadly he probably didn't survive long in the wild.”

Jackdaw

Thieving jackdaw

“Whether for thieving, deceiving, or simply being too loud, the jackdaw has had a bad reputation since Aesop featured it in his Fables.”

Peacock

Happy as a peacock

“It does seem logical that a peacock in almost any context would be happier than a pig in shit, but is it happier than a clam?”

Weasel

Weasel words

“Weak and indirect diction, often associated with shirking responsibility. Perhaps weasels would use them if they dared to speak?”

Camel

Camel jockey

“An ethnic slur for people of middle eastern origin.”

Raccoon

Coon's age

“Is this longer than donkey's years?”

Peacock

Proud as a peacock

“Who would not be proud, with such lovely feathers?”

SUNDAY

TUESDAY

THURSDAY

SATURDAY

MONDAY

WEDNESDAY

FRIDAY

JANUARY

Penguin

The first penguin

“The one who assumes great risk as a leader – inspired by the first penguin to dive in water to feed among predators.”

